GIVING OUT

The Struggle Discourages Many a Citizen of Norway

Around all day with an aching back, Can't rest at night; Enough to make anyone "give out," Doan's Pills are helping thousands. They are for kidney backache, And other kidney ills.

Here is Norway proof of their merit:

Join F. Sampson, prop. painting establishment, 174 Main St. says: "I was feeling run down and miserable. I was tired, nervous and my kidneys didn't act regularly. At times the excursions passed too frequently, then again they were scanty. My head ached night and day. A friend advised me to try Doan's Pills so I sent to Stone's Drug Store for them. When I had finished taking Doan's the trouble left, and I have not been bothered since. I can certainly recommend Doan's to anyone afflicted likewise."

THE SUNSET GATES

I think as I sit at the close of day
When the sun has gone to rest,
Of the beautiful golden light that shines
So far away in the west.
And I wonder, beyond the golden beams
In the beautiful land of heaven,
If the sunset gates to the heavenly home
Tonight are standing ajar.
Do they open wide as the daylight fades
For someone to enter in?
Through the sunset gates to the better land,
So free from all trouble and sin?
Where the tired and weary will find sweet rest,
From all of life's cares and pain,
When they go through the gates, at last,
They will never go out again.
West Paris, Maine.
MRS. VIOLA HERRICK.

THE GIFT OF LOVE

A kindly smile, a word of praise,
Is better far than gifts of gold,
With cheer and comfort all our days,
The clasp of hands that have the touch
Of love and loyal brotherhood,
Is what we need, naught means so much.
There is no gift so sweet, so good,
The gift of love is what we crave,
It lifts, it inspires us to be brave,
Heaven's own true bond of unity.
True love makes human hearts beat true,
It gives to one's self and then to all.
To give such love is Christ-like too,
No sweeter gifts from heaven fall.
For love alone can satisfy,
The needs within each human breast,
A balm to weary souls that sigh,
A panacea for all unrest.
Then sure day love to everyone,
The high, the low, the good, the bad,
Not till we love is life begun,
The life that maketh others glad.

Mrs. Pauline Murdock Pratt

So short time ago that it seems but a few weeks, the friends of Mr. and Mrs. Llewellyn A. Pratt, former residents, welcomed them back to Bethel, where they were to make their future home with their daughter, Mrs. Merton Farwell.

Twenty-three years ago they moved to Roxbury, Massachusetts, where Mr. Pratt was obliged to resign his position last August on account of failing health.

Many friends recognized Mrs. Pratt's frail health on their return, but little realized how nearly spent was her strength, because of the indomitable will and cheery spirit she has shown through the weeks of gradually relaxing hold upon life.

Her enforced weakness and suffering was met with wonderful patience, and not until a week or more ago was hope abandoned by husband and daughter of but a few days remaining of the anticipated years of happy companionship yet to be shared.

Every care and comfort enfolded this dear sufferer, by whom it was always received with loving words of appreciation until she fell asleep Thursday afternoon to awaken Saturday morning, January 5, in the Land of Joy and Sunshine where pain may not enter.

Pauline C. Murdock was born at North Paris, January 11, 1852, and married Llewellyn A. Pratt of that town, who, together with the son, Leonard M. Pratt, of Roxbury and daughter, Mrs. Farwell, survive to miss a rarely devoted wife and mother.

One brother, Edward M. Murdock, resides in Arlington, Mass.

RADIO AS AN EDUCATOR

The educational value of the radio to families in their homes and on the farms is becoming more fully appreciated. From one Western broadcasting station people in 114 cities and towns, and thousands of farm homes in the country enjoy daily entertainment. Lectures from great educational centers scattered over thirty-one states are heard from one super-station.

A family in Maine hears and enjoys concerts from the west. The pleasure that a whole family gets from nation-wide music and lectures is intensified by the fact that they have been deprived of these things until the discovery of the radio.

The President of the United States and the majority of the members of his cabinet were farm boys. They developed strong bodies and clear minds working in the fields. The little red school-house was their first temple of education.

There is something about farming that develops the better qualities of men and women. That is why it is always a pleasure for us to do business with farmer customers.

We invite the accounts of farmers who are looking for a bank that can meet all their banking needs. They will find us friendly, always ready to help when it is in our power to do so.

THE JOHN DEERE SPREADER

The Spreader with the Beater on the Axle

The main axle of the John Deere Spreader serves a two-fold purpose, that of an axle for the spreader and a shaft for the beater. All the strain and stress of spreading comes where it belongs, on the main axle, the strongest part of the machine, not on the spreader frame and box sides. The axle runs in self-aligning boxes. It can not bind or get out of true. The draft is lightened and wear is reduced.

The box is wide and low—only 36 inches to the top of the box. The load is carried on all four wheels.

The load is delivered near the ground, wind does not affect spreading.

High Drive Wheels lighten the draft and furnish extra traction. Easy to load at back end, over the beater, if necessary. Turns in its own length. Very easy on repairs.

A Week's Vacation to Every Woman Who Owns an "Easy" Electric Washer

Keep Warm With an Electric Heater

If you don't wish to keep the furnace fires going full blast all the time, just place one of these Hadite Heaters in the "cozy" corner, den or bathroom. It takes off the chill and pays for itself by the coal it saves.

Handsome designs at $6.98.

Every housewife who has an EASY Electric Washer will have an extra week's vacation this year.

Instead of spending two hours each week over the wash board, she will let the EASY do her washing electrically and save 1½ hours each week—78 hours a year.

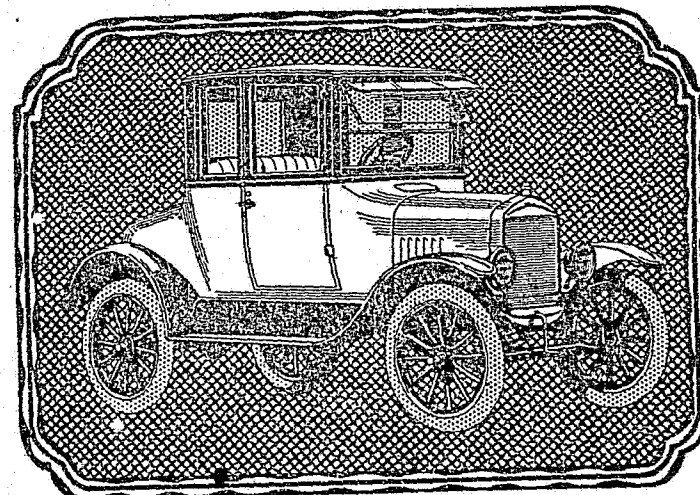

78 hours is equal to over 7 ten-hour days—a week's vacation. Besides, the EASY saves your strength and washes for 4c a week.

Why don't you learn more about the "EASY"?

HOME NEWSPAPER

If there is anything in your town worth talking about, ten chances to one your own newspapers had a hand in putting it there. If anybody beyond the walls of your burg ever learns that there is such a place as Three Corners it will be thru the home paper.

Every town gets its money's worth thru the home newspapers. It's the wagon that carries all your goods to market. It ought to be kept in good repair. It will pay to grease it, paint it and keep its running gears in good shape and shelter. They are the guardians and defenders of every interest, the forefathers and pioneers of every movement and the sturdy advocates of law and order.

PROFIT ON VEAL CALF

Farmers read this and then do as you please. Sidney Sanborn of Shawport a calf to one of the commission houses in Boston. It carried in 120 lbs.

got a check back for $14, paid $2 for butchering, left him $12. The hide cost 40c express, 80c commission. Sidney got a check back for 70c. It will get so we will have to throw in a bunch of potatoes to make them take the hide, still they keep right on in the same old rut.

YOUTH AND MOVIES

In an article in the Saturday Evening Post, Wallace A. Johnston estimates that the daily attendance at American motion picture theaters averages 6,000,000, and he expresses his opinion that among this number "youth" is the most important element. In support of this opinion, he quotes a Russell Sage Foundation committee on a questionnaire covering 37,000 high school students, showing that 83 per cent. of the girls go to their local movie theater at least twice a week.

While most of us, as the result of local observation, may be willing to admit that the total may be well within the limit, the figures will have a striding quality like, to use a well-worn comparison, the total of a bill of which the items are evidently correct but which, in the aggregate, looks much larger than we had expected. With this number of daily patrons the efforts to make cheaper and better pictures and to develop an art strain heretofore lacking in the movies is much easier to understand. There were never 15,000 legitimate theaters with 6,000,000 daily attendants. Nor is it likely that all the churches in America ever secured the willing attendance twice a week of anywhere near 85 per cent. of the high school students of the nation.

From his article it appears that Mr. Johnston, in a sincere and straightforward fashion, is an apologist for the prevailing movie theater policy or lack of policy. For this reason it is interesting to listen to his confession as to the defects of the present system, both of production and distribution. In his summary he says that the manufacture of films is largely guesswork and the selling of them largely a game of chance. He points out, however, that the "good" picture, that is, the successful one, is likely to be increasingly healthy and he believes that the system of distribution, by demanding money pictures, has forced some producers to make unnecessarily poor ones. He does not say just what can be done about it, though he does recommend "a very clear diagnosis of a rather baffling case. The article, though by no means conclusive, does a very real service in defining the nature and size of the problem. Taking the current idea of the social importance of motion pictures falls far below the exact truth. And from this it is easy to argue that the public has not yet recognized its full responsibility to the rising generation.

WORKING WITHOUT CREDIT

Were it not for the public spirited men in every community, this world would be a different place to live in from what it is, and yet very few men and women who are making their respective communities better in every way, very seldom get the credit for what they do.

If the person is a woman who is trying to better conditions in her town, who is trying to improve the morale of the community, is working for the uplift of certain classes, who is interested in child welfare or bettering the conditions of people who have not seemed to be able to get ahead very fast, and many other things that might be mentioned, then she is criticised from many angles, her motives are misunderstood and there is always some motive other than the right one laid at her door; if it is a man who is interested in doing things for his own town, who takes an active part and gives his time and his money in working for the interest of different movements in the state, who when called upon to go out and work for this or that, which will be an asset to his community, he is obliged to take the rebuffs and listen to criticism about how this or that should be conducted, and this too from the people who are always too ready to denounce their own town to such things; he is criticised for having an axe to grind that he wants an office or is trying to play favorites for this or that one or something else of the same nature and yet it is just such men and women who are making the community a delight to live in, who are doing the things, which if they did not do them would be left undone, who with all this being talked about have the satisfaction in feeling and knowing that they are doing something to make the old world a better place to live in and are helping to make each place where they may call home, a town or city in which everyone has pride and yet one which gives those who are doing all these things the credit where credit is due, as long as the people who are doing these things are not looking for praise for their efforts and are not looking for a good word, they will probably continue doing these things regardless of what is said about them, and it would surely be a different world were there not such benefactors in every community.

These things are more important to a community like ours than they are to larger cities, yet there will be found the same kind of people in large communities.

A CHICKEN'S SNEEZE

No animal can sneeze as readily as a chicken. We have met humans who excelled as sneezers, but never one who could perform the job so neatly, so thoroughly or with such startling emphasis as a hen. This is not attempted humor—the fact has a direct agricultural significance overlooked by 90 per cent. of our poultry men. A chicken's breathing apparatus is so complicated that dusty air is harmful to it and this is particularly true of dust arising from moldy straw. "Colds" in the hen house are often nothing more than the effects of dusty straw. Dobbin doesn't object to having moldy straw underfoot, but the hens deserve only the cleanest and they'll pay for it in better health.

WEST BUCKFIELD

Schools opened Monday. The teacher of the Public school, Miss Lillian Holmes, boards at Harry Buck's.

Dorothy Buck returned to her school in South Barre, Mass., Saturday.

Poverty Ball

A jolly party attended the poverty ball at the K. of P. Hall, Friday evening. Those who put on such old clothes certainly represented hard luck. Melvin Bartlett were awarded the prizes for the most appropriate costumes, although Bernal McAlister and Elsie Foster were close seconds. Leon Stearns was also one of the lucky ones as he received the large cake made by Edith Chaplin on the penny cake walk. Mrs. Lewis M. Brown was up from Portland, Wednesday and Thursday, and was the guest of Mrs. Emma Hubbard at the Mallow. Mrs. Brown expects to go to New Jersey later for a visit to her brother and sister.

The Community Christmas Tree was a decided success, thanks to the cooperation of all, the hard work of a few, and the kindness of some of our absent friends in sending financial aid, among them Miss Mary Burchfield, Miss Jean McKinney, Mrs. H. W. Lyon, P. I. Hooper, W. W. Kimball, Mr. and Mrs. Santa Claus also added much to the evening's enjoyment. The committee in charge appreciates the manner in which everyone helped.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Hannah E. Meserve

Mrs. Hannah (Edwards) Meserve passed away at her home, 101 West Main St., Casco, December 17, at the age of 71 years. She was born in Otisfield and married John Meserve of Casco. To them were born two children, Eva A., wife of William Smith of Harrison, with whom she has made her home for the past few years, and Lizzie, who passed away several years ago.

Mrs. Meserve had been in failing health for some time and for nine weeks had been tenderly cared for by her daughter and a nurse, Carrie Brooks. She leaves, beside her daughter, Mrs. Smith, one sister, Lizzie Washburn in California, one brother, Levi Edwards, Otisfield, one grandson, George Smith, and one granddaughter, Delia Smith, to mourn her loss.

She was laid to rest in the family lot on Maple Ridge, Harrison. The flowers were many and beautiful. Spray of Pinks, "Mother"—Mr. and Mrs. William Smith. Spray of "Grandma"—Della and George Smith and Evelyn Gordon. Spray of Pinks—Evelyn Gordon. Spray of "Aunt"—Melvin Meserve, Miss Chase, William Meserve, Arthur Meserve, Gertrude and Horace Brown, Louville Edwards. Spray Pinks—Mr. and Mrs. Sumner Smith.

Sanford Proctor

News has been received of the death of Sanford Proctor, which occurred at his home in Milford, Conn., Jan. 4, of heart trouble. Mr. Proctor was well known in Hartford, Canton and Peru, where he had relatives with whom part of his boyhood was passed. He served in the U. S. Navy for several years when young, and was at the ruins of Pompeii, during the excavations that were made in that buried city.

Forty-five years ago he married Anna F. Oldham, the only daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Oldham of North Hartford, who passed away 11 years ago. They lived in Waterbury, Conn., where they lived until moving to Milford a few years before Mrs. Proctor's death. He was successfully engaged as a painting contractor until he retired a few years ago. He was planning to leave for the South to spend the winter when he was stricken with the illness that caused his death.

He is survived by two children, Mrs. Eben Avery, with whom he lived, and Mrs. Thomas Clarkson Lewis of New Haven, Conn. and one grandson, Kenneth Fitzpatrick, of Milford, Conn. He was about 75 years of age.

William Wallace Andrews

William Wallace Andrews passed away at his home on High Street, Friday evening, January 4, after an illness of one week. He was one of the oldest citizens and had been a resident of this town for twenty-one years.

Mr. Andrews was born in Otisfield, June 18, 1849, a son of Asa and Aliza Andrews. His grandparents were among the earliest settlers on Frost Hill in Norway. His education was acquired in the schools of Otisfield, Bolsters Mills, and the Oxford Normal Institute. For several years he taught successfully in the schools of his native town and at Bolsters Mills; and in later years served on the school board, as superintendent of schools and on the board of selectmen.

On August 25, 1893, Mr. Andrews enlisted at Augusta, as a recruit in Company G, of the Tenth Maine Infantry, commanded by Col. Beal, joining the regiment immediately after the battle of Antietam. The following May, when the two year's men received their discharge, Mr. Andrews was transferred to Company B, of the Tenth Maine Battalion. During the battle of Peach Orchard he was wounded below the left knee, and carried that bullet for the remainder of his life. After a short stay in a hospital in Philadelphia he was given a furlough home, and received his honorable discharge April 20, 1895, while still in the hospital at Augusta, having been in the service for nearly three years.

On Oct. 26, 1897, Mr. Andrews united in marriage with Miss Addie A. Pike of Norway, when he purchased a half of his father's farm on Andrews Hill where they built their home which was maintained until December 1902, when they removed to the Seth France farm in this village, which he has greatly improved for two years. He first joined Harry Rust Post, G. A. R. at Norway but was transferred to T. A. Roberts Post, serving for several years as its chaplain.

Mr. Andrews was public spirited and was interested in and contributed toward the welfare of the community. He was for some years, deprived of much social enjoyment and his chief pleasure was in his reading. He is survived by a daughter, Miss Lillian Andrews, a son, Henry, and a daughter, Genevieve and Eleanor Andrews, all members of his household. The funeral services were held at his late home, Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock, the Rev. Charles E. Hamilton of the Congregational church officiating. Only two members of the T. A. Roberts Post, G. ## NORWAY AND VICINITY

Lester V. Ashton made a donation of cigars to the fireman's meeting recently, and a vote of thanks was unanimous for the fragrant smoke.

The snow plov came in over Norway
 Branch Ry., Jan. 3, for the first time this winter. There wasn't much snow to move but a path was cleared for the wheel flange.

Highway Commissioner, Harry E. Lovejoy used sand on the sidewalks, Friday, after the rain. Frozen sled made walking anything but a safe and sane pastime.

Radio epidemic is sweeping the town and claiming many victims. The ling-phrases and terms incidental to the game are creeping into general conversation, giving us a new line of slang easily com-prehended. The conservatives, hunting sleep about 9 P. M. in the old days, may be found near midnight anchored to receiving sets finding pleasure in whistles and agonizing groans. Optimism is a jewel in the radio game, as in fishing at some frog pond. It is estimated that 150 sets may be found in Norway.

Bertrand G. McIntire and Charles L.
 Bartlett have bought of Fannie E. Lovejoy and Sons, a large parcel in the Norway, Hinesford farm of the late Horace G. Dinwiddie. Certain parcels are reserved also cottage and water rights together with right of way to "Goat Island" are reserved. The property is bounded in a general way by the road leading from Crockett Ridge schoolhouse to Nobles Corner; the farms of Albert
 Richardson and A. M. Dunham; "Goat Island" at Lake Penesseewassee.

 Sweet, happy memories cling round your

 And never say farewell."

$170 Lower in Price

Priced $170 lower, the New Essex Coach provides a larger, handsomer body, with even greater passenger comfort than the former Coach. And its 6-cylinder motor, built on Hudson patents give smoothness and performance distinction, heretofore exclusive to the Super-Six.

Qualities of Both Hudson and Essex

Its abilities are as exclusive in this field as Hudson's. Think of what that advantage means. And it has in full those hidden values that keep Hudson and Essex cars like new, after thousands of miles and years of service.

Everyone Calls It "Ideal Transportation"

Simple to keep in first class condition. Requires little attention. Lubrication for the most part is done with an oil can. Mileage on fuel, oil and tires is exceptional.

MOUNTAINOUS MAINE

A visitor to Portland last Summer made the statement that he did not like Maine because it was so flat. Inquiry revealed the fact that his knowledge of the State extended only from Kittery to Portland and that he had never been elsewhere within its borders. Too many people visit Portland either by railroad or highway, and the things that they have seen all there is worth seeing in Maine. On the contrary, the rugged and scenic seacoast is delightful, the real spectacular scenery of the State does not begin until after one has gone north and east of Portland.

Maine is essentially mountainous although it is not generally classed as such by outsiders who seem to know only of the White Mountains up in this section of the Country. As a matter of fact, the White Mountain range extends well into Maine and even the Green Mountains of Vermont follow across northern New Hampshire under another name, and into Maine along the international boundary between the United States and Canada.

The entire surface of the State may be classed as hilly, with the exception of the southern part of York County, while the northern and western sections of Maine are mountainous to the extreme. The elevations rise from the coast northward and from east to west toward the interior. The flat area begins at Kittery and extends to Portland with some what more rolling country from Portland along the coast to the Kennebec River. East of the Kennebec the coast region rises to abrupt and bold elevations of from 1,000 to 1,500 feet.

The mountains and hill country of Maine is really a continuation of the Appalachian chain, and in this State its main plateau crosses it in a northeasterly direction. The average height of this divide varies from 2,000 feet above the sea level on the west, where it enters the State to 600 feet at its eastern extremity, which is in the Aroostock County region on the border of New Brunswick.

Within the limits of Maine are hundreds of towering mountains and hills, the king of which is the famous Kathadin, located in the north central section of the State and declared by some of the climbers and geologists one of the most spectacular and interesting peaks east of the Rocky Mountains. Kathadin is really a small group consisting of several mountains with its highest elevation piercing the sky 5,273 feet above sea level. Maine's next highest peak is a long distance southwest of Kathadin away over in the Rangeley Lakes region. This is Saddleback Mountain, in the township of Madrid 4,456 feet in height. The third highest in the State is towering Sprackles, possibly better known as Old Spec, located in the township of Grafton. It is 4,150 feet high. White Cap Mountain, which forms the outer side of this beautiful notch, is the next highest peak in the state, 3,996 feet. Next comes Snow Mountain, also called Ponds township, in the northern Dead River Region, 3,986 feet, and then Goose Eye Mountain, in Riley, close to the New Hampshire line, 3,854 feet, while White Cap Mountain in Bowdoin College Grant is 3,854 feet.

The following Maine mountains are all over 3,000 feet in height: Panther Mountain, in Seven Ponds Plantation, 3,680; North Peak, Riley Plantation, 3,650; West Kennebec Mountain, in R-4 Plantation, 3,625; Bull Mountain, in T-3 Plantation, 3,620; Mt. Bigelow, Bigelow Plantation, 3,600 feet; Baker Mountain in Gore A-2, 3,589; Mt. Carlo in Riley Plantation, 3,520; Mt. Pisgah in Chain of Ponds Plantation, 3,428; Mt. Abraham, in Mt. Abraham Plantation, 3,387; Little Spruce Mountain, in R-11 Plantation, 3,374; Squaw Mountain, in Big Squaw Mountain Plantation on the western shore of Moosehead Lake, 3,262; Mt. Blue, in Avon, in the Rangeleys, 3,200; East Royce Mountain in Bachelier's Plantation, 3,125; Saddleback Mountain, in R-11 Plantation, 3,054; and Spencer Mountain, in Middlesex Canal Grant, 3,035 feet.

Other high mountains in Maine are Moxie, in Caratunk Plantation, 2,925 feet; Speckled in Stoneham, 2,877 feet; Caribou in Mason Plantation, 2,828 feet; East Kennebec Mountain, in Dyer's town Plantation, 2,750 feet; White Cap Mountain, in T-4 Plantation, 2,635 feet; Bald Mountain, in Bald Mountain Plantation, 2,630 feet; Black Mountain in Newry, 2,587 feet; Barker Mountain also in Newry, 2,582 feet; Mt. Zion in Peru, 2,440 feet; Spruce Mountain, in Woodstock, 2,420 feet; Chairback Mountain, in T-7 Plantation, 2,371 feet; and Mosquito Mountain in the Forks Plantation, 2,230 feet.

Maine has also several notable mountains that are better known than even the majority of those named above, but which are not in their class as regards altitude. Among these is Mount Kinoo, on the eastern shore of Moosehead Lake, one of the most spectacular elevations in the country but which is only 1,950 feet in height. In Lafayette National Park, on Mount Desert Island, are the highest mountains on the Atlantic Coast, north of Rio Janeiro, Brazil, including Cadillac Mountain formerly called Green, rising almost sheer out of the ocean, 1,533 feet. Pleasant Mountain, located in Bridgton and Denmark, is one of the most beautiful in Maine, and from its top may be obtained what veteran climbers declare to be one of the most superb views of the White Mountains and surrounding country that may be obtained. Approximately 55 lakes may be seen from its summit which has an altitude of Saddleback group, 1,407 feet high, is perhaps the best known in southwestern Maine. It rises from the shores of Sebago Lake in Baldwin.

There are literally hundreds of hills and mountains in Maine which exceed 1,000 feet in height and from the summits of which may be obtained views surpassing the powers of description.

Because of its mountainous nature is a virtual wonderland for the climber and its highways, winding in and about these hills, unfold for the motorist an ever changing panorama of almost matchless scenery. Many villages and single habitations are located on these hills and the high atmosphere is healthful and invigorating to a remarkable degree.
